The Children's Corner

LETTER FROM MISS CURIOSITY

Wellesville, Me., Nov. 24, '31, Dear Corner Folks: It seems to be very quiet around the corner lately. I think you have got Aunt Betsy's number, Grandma, as she didn't have anything to say last week. I have been to the auction room twice lately, but didn't see anyone that I thought would be "Grandma". I did not see Mrs. Macne, there, either, last week, so you see Miss Curiosity is more curious than ever today. I think Grandma must have been a very busy girl and what a wonderful life to live and be able to do anything that comes along in life, some make life so drab, while others make it gay and bright. Here is a poem I read the other day, I think is very pretty and made me think of my sister who left three years ago:

The death of the flowers
The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year,
Of winter winds and naked woods, and mists
Down brown and bare.

Heaped in the hollow of the grove, the withered leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust and to the rain.

The robin and the wren are down, and from the hawthorn black
And from the wood-top calls the crow, through all the gloomy day.

When all the flowers, fair, young fellows,
That lately sprang and stood
In brighter light and softer air, a beauteous sisterhood!

They all are in their graves, the gentle Are lying in their lowly beds, with the fair and good of our life, but the cold November rain.

Calls not from out the gloomy earth, the love lies again.

The wind-flood and the violet, they perished long ago.

And the briarrose and the orchids died amid
But on the hill the golden-rod, and the aster in the wood.

And the yellow sunflower by the brook, in autumn beauty stood.

And the brightness of their smile was gone,
And the stream no more.

And now, when comes the calm, mild day, as still such days will come.

To be sure, and the leaves from out their winter home;

When the sound of dropping nuts is heard, though all the trees are still.

And twinkling in the smoky light, the waters of the fall.

The south wind searches for the flowers which have fled.

And seeks to find them in the wood and by the stream no more.

And then I think of one who in her youthful beauty died.

Oh, fair, sweet woman that grew up and faded
by my side!

Oh, soul that earth we had her when the forest erst had hid her!

Oh, heart that one so lonely should have been left!

Oh, life that was so beautiful, should I perchance forget of ours!

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance
forget of ours!

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance
forget of ours!

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance
forget of ours!

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance
forget of ours!

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance

Oh, death so beautiful, should I perchance

SEAWARD VILLA

A place known as Seaward Villa was a beautiful and lovely place, a place that no one dared venture near because of an old tale about it. In this villa there lived a giant who would poison anyone who came to visit him. At the end of the house grew green patches of seaweed, which gave the villa its name. The giant was a wealthy fellow and lived more like a king than anyone else. He had a certain tribe of people who were in the palace as his servants. This tribe was very much afraid of the giant so they always ran to his bidding.

One day the giant commanded them to find the most beautiful woman in the city for him because he wanted to marry a beauty, not one made so by human hands, but by nature. He said she should have golden hair, hazel eyes and lips of red. She should have a poor girl. He wanted the most beautiful and the poorest maiden in the city. She should have a great taste for dress and wear the latest styles.

This small tribe of people hunted day and night for the girl that was to suit their master. They were about to give up hunting when one of them came to a house where lived an old woman and her daughter, who was the one that covered all of the giant's qualifications. He told her that the giant wanted her to come and see him. The girl asked no questions, but kissed her mother goodbye and went with the servant to the villa. When she stood before the giant the servant left her.

The giant told her he wanted her to be his wife. She said, "I will be as I must care for my mother, who is old and crippled. The giant said if she would be his wife, he would let her mother live with him and she should be the lady of the villa. She said she would go home and tell her mother of his plan and if her mother agreed she would gladly be his wife. She told her mother of the plan after her arrival home and the next day they went to "Seaward Villa", which was to be their home.

The giant had a priest there and they were married at once. The three people lived together for about six years, when suddenly the old lady was taken ill and never having been sick before, the girl did not know what to do for her, so she went to a doctor. The doctor shook his head, "I do not believe there is much hope for her, but I will try. If I have time, I will follow my directions I shall take her home." The girl was glad and said she would follow directions as close as possible if there was any hope for her dear mother as she did not know how she could live without her. The doctor gave her the directions and she wrote them down so as to make no mistakes. Then came days of anxious waiting while the doctor came every day. After about a week the doctor came out and said, "Your mother is now better, a great sign of relief and said, 'Ah! The crisis is passed—she will live.' And she did live to be ninety-six years of age.

It was on the day of her ninety-sixth birthday, the giant and his wife gave a party in honor of the old lady and invited many friends. Everyone had a gay time, especially the young lady of ninety-six.

The next day the old lady passed away very suddenly. The girl was very much surprised and her mother died, but the preparations for the funeral were quickly made and the old lady laid to rest leaving many friends to mourn their loss.

After that, life went on as usual at "Seaward Villa" and the giant and his wife lived very happy for many years.

Made up and sent in to the Children's Corner by George A. Yates, Bryant Pond.

LETTER FROM NORTON

Dear Aunt Betsy: I have not written to the children's corner

MAINE

BATES-WEST PARIS

Mrs. Farr Dead—Junior Class Presented Drama—Sports Club Organized—Thanksgiving—W. C. T. U. Meeting.

Mrs. Edith May, wife of Willard Farr, passed away Thurs. Nov. 26, late in afternoon, at her home on High Street. Mrs. Farr has been in poor health for more than a year, of nervous trouble. Nevertheless, she died a sudden death, being confined to her bed about two weeks, with Mrs. Campbell for nurse, the same who was with her for a time earlier in the year.

Mrs. Farr was the daughter of Orin and Orpha Herriek Ring and was fifty-two years old. Besides her husband, she leaves four children, Raymond, Simeon and Edward Farr, Jr., and Margaret, wife of Raymond Chase, all of West Paris, also six grandchildren, Raymond Jr., Marion, Ruth and Maxine Farr, and Audrey and Everett Chase. There are also three brothers, Osmond, John and Eugene of Greenwood, and Walter E. Ring of West Paris.

She was a member of Onward Rebekah Lodge, Daughters of Union Veterans, and a member of the Universalist Church, and was an attendant at all of these organizations, whenever health permitted. She will be missed by her family and friends. Her funeral was held at the Universalist Church, Sunday, at 2 p. m., attended by the Rebekah Lodge in a body and performed their funeral services. There were beautiful flowers from each of the above organizations, also a piece from neighbors and many other friends and relatives, betokening deepest sympathy. Interment took place in West Paris cemetery.

For lack of time, recently, your correspondent failed to write an item in regard to the Junior W. C. T. U. Drama, but it was so well done, it deserves public mention. "Rose of the South Land" was the name of the three act play and there were twelve characters. All of them did fine, but the three leading characters who had the longest parts were especially good. Anita Rowe was the leading lady, "Rose Dorinda," daughter of the Major, and acted her part in good shape, as also "Major Dorinda," John Herriek, who took the part of an elderly gentleman, and Ruth McKee, "Mammy," who acted the part of a colored servant and the language was full of fun and was met with applause. There was a full house and appreciative audience.

The citizens of West Paris have recently organized a club, sponsoring the sports with the following officers: President—Frank P. Knight, Jr. Vice President—Harold E. Gammon. Treasurer—Edwin J. Mann. Secretary—Wendell King.

Committees on by-laws, rink, and minstrel show have been appointed. The rink ground, on Mrs. Mabel Mann's land on Main Street, is being prepared and considerable improvement made in its condition from last year. Interested citizens are giving work, and a minstrel show is being worked up to be given later for the benefit of the rink.

The Bates Literary Club were entertained by the Community Club at South Paris, recently, and spent a very pleasant afternoon. Last week they held their meeting at Mrs. Ethel Penley's, on Friday afternoon. Their subject was Historical Romances, continued from the meeting previous, also sketches of American Authors were given.

There were many Thanksgiving family gatherings, as usual. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hill had all their children and their families home; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Emery and daughter, Myrtle, and granddaughter, Helen Ross; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hill and daughter, Charlotte, and Mr. and Mrs. Rolin Dinsmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noyes and son, Donald, were at his father's, Mr. Noyes'. Grammy Noyes, who will be 103 years old in January, 1932, came to the dining table, assisted by Grammy Bennett, an act which she has not done for a good while. There were five generations sitting at the dinner table.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mann had as guests in all Mrs. Emma Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jenkins and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Mann and his school friend from Bryant & Stratton Business College of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Emery entertained their family of four children, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Flavin and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emery and two children, Truman Emery and Thelma Emery, who also board there. There were fifteen in all. Mrs. Truman Emery and son, Thomas, went to Gorham, N. H., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Perham and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Perham dined with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Perham and family. Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes spent Thanksgiving day with Miss Sarah Ricker at the Mansion House, Poland Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Haines entertained their son, Raymond, and wife, and son, Murray.

Eugene Penley and Joe Penley were at their respective homes from the University of Maine for the week end and Thanksgiving.

The W. C. T. U. held a public meeting Sunday evening, Nov. 29, a union service in the Universalist church. The program consisted of an exercise, "Temperance Chimes" by four members, with singing by the choir between each reading. A temperance playlet by two young ladies, Forbes and Ray Roberts, also by the president, on winning members, followed by a song, "Win Them, One by One," by Mrs. Jennie Bates and Miss Rowena G. Verge, who also led in the other song and hymns, accompanied by Mrs. Jennie Brown Dunham. It was a very interesting meeting. Mrs. Martha Kendall was the committee on program.

SUMNER

There was a very pleasant school party at the Norway schoolhouse the evening of November 25. It was put on by our teacher, Miss Sadie Redding. The evening was taken up with the speaking of poems and singing of songs, and the usual conversation among the scholars, superintendents, school board and parents. There was a large attendance, totaling one hundred, and cake and cocoa were served. Pretty good evidence of pleasant feelings toward everything connected with this good old school.

It is expected that what few foxes there are left in this section will be in the near future be cleaned up. Why? Linn Farrar has purchased a new automatic shot gun, ain't that good enough? Linn has hunted for more than twenty-five seasons with his repeater.

Miss Sadie Redding and mother, Mrs. P. V. Redding, and Mrs. Redding's sister, went to New York, Thursday morning, and came back Sunday, the 30th.

Oliver Varney and Mr. Lapham of Redding, were down in the morning recently and Jerry and Irvin Bartlett joined them and all went rabbit hunting returning with fair success.

Donald Varney has recently installed an electric light at his home. He has had a new car, a new house, and a new day guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles Russell, the last of the week.

Linn Farrar sold one of his fox hounds recently.

Fred Wing, formerly a neighbor, though for many years he has lived in Natick, Mass., is for an indefinite time stopping in Sumner and recently called on the village. While there, a friendly talk was carried on for nearly an hour. Fred is a wood carpenter of the upper class.

John Libby, who has for about a year been working in the woods up in Byron, was down to his farm on Field's Hill the first of last week. Mrs. Libby accompanied him.

Grace Bartlett went to Redding, where she stopped over night with Mrs. Oliver Varney, Nov. 23, returning home Sunday evening.

Oliver Varney, Mr. Lapham, Willie and George Andrews were in Bethel, recently on business, connected with the sporting goods line.

The weather has been very mild here for the time of year and on Dec. 1st one can play as easily as in October, something very unusual for this section.

Mrs. Bartlett spent today of last week with Mrs. Tuttle.

The writer spent in a little dose for last week's issue, though it did not count out. As yet, he has not received a rejection slip, so there still exists a possible chance for publication.

Well, we are having the most lovely weather ever at this time of year, Dec. 7, only had one morning that the thermometer was below zero, that only three below.

There is only about one inch of snow on the ground and it is real warm here today, the 7th.

While Mrs. Emerson Bartlett was visiting for two weeks this autumn, among friends and relatives in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, she called on Mrs. D. Crommet Clark at her home on Oxford Street, one of the most beautiful streets in Somerville, Mass.

Donald Varney is getting out some pine logs and his trucks are hauling them to the saw mill at West Sumner.

Linn Farrar is cutting his winter's wood.

In last week's items, it spoke of Mrs. Emerson Bartlett spending the day with Mrs. Charles Tuttle, but as it happened, when Mrs. Bartlett got to Mrs. Tuttle's place, she was just starting out to spend the day with Mrs. Linn Farrar.

Owing, I suppose, to the fact of there being practically no snow, and the woods being noisy, there has been no deer shot in this section for about two weeks, and as there still remains only about one more week to hunt them, it looks as if a number will safely hit winter quarters.

Lincoln, to give good service, should be laid over a smooth floor in such a way that it does not buckle. Clean it with a damp cloth wrung out of suds made with mild soap. Alkali washing powders, strong soap, or too much water, will ruin even the best linoleum.

GOOSE CORNER MUSINGS

Mrs. Hatch, in Granite State News

As you turn the dials on your radio either and you does it ever occur to you what an amazing number of programs are devoted to the pursuit of beauty—feminine beauty—nobody seems to think men need to look any better than they do.

At that they look good to the Goose, considering the awful clothes the poor things have to wear. Beauticians, so-called, are miserably dismayed at the idea of making anything out of the poor critters doomed to array themselves in clapping trousers and awkward coats, and illy waistoaks.

But honest, do you think, considering that you have so much time devoted to it, that this much badlyhooped beauty culture improves the goods? Hair, teeth, complexion—teeth, complexion, hair, how everlastingly the complexities and the rites

Telephone 137:21

Any woman who begins her days with so-called health exercises and follows up the hour-after-hour program of beauty beautification certainly will have time for nothing else.

It's just fine to drift into the hands of a professional beautifier now and then. But let it go at that. If we need to be pulled up now and then, let's go find somebody whose business it is to do it. Somebody above, forget about it between times.

Amateur beautification does not produce the result commensurate with the struggle—radio broadcasters to the rescue.

Hamlin Attended State Grange—Heifer Killed in Pasture—Monroe's Gone to Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Littlefield are in Lovell, where Mrs. Littlefield is cooking in a camp for his father. They went two weeks ago.

Mrs. Ida E. Riggs was a supper guest of Mrs. Phoebe Haggood, on Friday.

Miss Maude B. Atherton of Yarmouth spent two days the first of last week with her sister, Mrs. Jennie M. Plummer. Mrs. Plummer is some improved in health.

Haynes Bros. have closed their cider mill for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hamlin attended State Grange in Portland the past week. They went to Portland on Sunday, with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warren. Albert W. Hamlin went for his parents, Friday.

Mrs. Jennie A. Haynes went to Harrison on Sunday, to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. C. D. Tarbox.

Fred and Henry Haynes, Mrs. Jennie Hammond, and Mrs. Phoebe Haggood were in Bridgton, Monday.

Harry Haynes recently found that one of his two year old heifers that was in the pasture on the Stevens farm in Sweden had been killed and dressed right in the open. It was indeed a bold thing to do. The crime as yet has not been placed.

Merton Kimball killed W. W. Abbott's last hog, on Friday, and it weighed 441 lbs., dressed. Some pig for a spring one!

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Holt visited with their son, Chester Holt, and family, at North Waterford, on Tuesday.

Wednesday night a fine supper was served at the Grange Hall, with Mrs. Myrtle York and Mrs. Fannie T. Greene in charge. The picture, "Phantom of the Forest," followed the supper. Everyone seeing this picture thought it especially fine. Not a large crowd attending either the supper or pictures.

Mrs. Sarah H. Greene spent Tuesday with Mrs. Carrie Kingman.

Miss Jessie Bennett of California arrived in town, Wednesday night, to visit her sister, Mrs. Harry W. Watson, and family. Dr. Watson met her in Portland. Miss Bennett has been in bed several days since her arrival, with an attack of neuritis.

Miss Henrietta F. R. Moore and Mrs. Alice Wolfe closed their home on Stanwood Hill on Tuesday, for the winter.

Carl Lane, a mining engineer of Nevada, is boarding at Mrs. W. C. Goodwin's.

W. W. Abbott called on Mrs. A. A. Monroe and Mrs. Jennie M. Plummer, on Saturday. These ladies appreciate the calls of all their friends, but his call especially, for although he is improving, it means much effort for him to call on his friends.

Clinton Goodwin has a Plymouth closed car, recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Sanborn of Bridgton have been spending a week in town, visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimball, at North Waterford; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eion Pike, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Sanborn. Mr. Sanborn has enjoyed his vacation hunting.

Leon Willard is in poor health at his home in Portland.

Miss Ethel M. Dana rowed across Bear Pond, Sunday, and at the same time the boys were skating at the mouth of the brook. A few more nights like Saturday and it would be doubtful if a boat could ply the lake.

W. S. Monroe came from Westford, Mass., on Tuesday, taking his mother, Mrs. A. A. Monroe, and sister, Ethel M. Monroe, to his home for the winter on Wednesday. Mrs. Monroe went on a bed made in the back seat of the car, as she can sit up only about an hour at a time. She had an ill turn on Wednesday of last week and was blind for two hours, since she has not gained back, so is not as well. She has been ill over twelve weeks. During these many sick weeks she has enjoyed the calls of her many friends, and especially those of the many school girls who have brightened her lonely, long hours with their calls. It is a nice practice these girls have set, visiting the sick, and they can only realize how much joy it brings to the old people when they are old themselves, in the years to come, and some bright, happy girl appears to bring the outside world a bit nearer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burgess were in Portland, Saturday.

Mrs. Flora Abbott was in Bridgton for dental work, Saturday. Sidney Rogers was the driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawley and son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawley, Jr., of Providence, R. I., and Harold Kimball and family, were Thanksgiving guests of Miss N. Lillian Kimball. The Hawleys were week end guests.

Miss N. Lillian Kimball is to be the correspondent for South Waterford for the winter.

Frank Parker of Cumberland Mills is in poor health and has given up his work in the Portland store.

NORTH WATERFORD
Auto Accident—Found Mayflowers—Holiday Guests.

Another auto accident here Friday night, Nov. 27, when a car went off the bridge by the pool mill, taking railings and landed on the side; fortunately the party was driving at a slow speed or something serious would have happened to him, as it was only a slight cut on the hand and a bumped head with a shaking up that he will soon recover from. The wrecker from Norway came and hauled the car out so he drove it home.

About a year ago a car went off at the same place; it is a very bad corner and in the night for a stranger it sure seems a dangerous place. If the street light had been on it would have been lighted the place, but as there was no light there and wasn't when the other accident occurred, it makes it bad for foot people as well as cars.

Leon Lovejoy picked a bouquet of full bloomed mayflowers, Thanksgiving and gave your correspondent one.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Van Demark from Lexington, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lovejoy spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lovejoy.

Maude Allen of Lewiston spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Hazen. She is stopping there for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Littlefield were Thanksgiving guests of his grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Farmer. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cheever were at Charles Bell's at Norway, where was a family gathering of thirty for dinner. Paye Lord tended the postoffice for Mrs. Cheever.

Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Brundon and son, Paul, and Rev. E. W. Furbur were guests of their parents at Bangor.

Mrs. Edie Ward and children, Harry and Pauline from Wollaston, Mass., and nephew, William E. Murray, from Milton, Mass., were at the Hazen and Marston farm at Bisbetown from Wednesday until Saturday, recently, and found it a very enjoyable place for a vacation, and may have it next summer for a longer stay.

Fred Hazen went to Paris, Friday, Nov. 27, and visited until Saturday, going and coming with John McAllister. There is to be a sale, supper and dance, Dec. 11th by the Bebechals at their hall.

George Cook from Auburn has been a guest at Mrs. F. P. Hazen's. Thanksgiving guests at Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Lebroke's were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Littlefield and daughters, Merline, and Edith, and son, Willis and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hatch and sons, Ralph, Raymond, Vivian, Gerald and daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Elliott, and son, Lawrence and baby son, Kenneth Hatch, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomas and their three boarders, John Freeman, Jimmy Libby and Lloyd McGraw.

JOHN HYATT BREWER, MUS. D.

John Hyatt Brewer, Doctor of Music, who died on November 29 at his home in Brooklyn, Borough, New York City, was many years a summer resident of Waterford, and his kindly traits of gentleness and helpfulness made him a favorite. He was a member of the Lake House in the summers that they were here. He is especially remembered for his leadership in summer music, regularly closing the season with a concert given by summer visitors under his direction.

The newspaper report tells that he was seventy-five years old and had been active in the musical life of Brooklyn from boyhood. He was a member of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian church and was fifty years its organist and the director of its chorus choir. He had been professor of music in Adelphi College for Women. In 1916 he received the degree of doctor of music from New York University. In 1905, Dr. Brewer received the annual prize of the Chicago Madrigal Club for a setting of Bayard Taylor's "Bedouin Love Song," and later won the annual prize of the Schubert Glee Club for a choral composition based on Arthur Guiterman's "Lord of the Earth."

More than 200 compositions by Dr. Brewer have been published, most of them sacred duets, quartets, anthems and songs for glee clubs and music for the organ and stringed instruments. Among his better known works were "The Holy Night," a Christmas cantata; "Break, Break, Break," "Birth of Love," "Hesperus," "Sea and the Moon," "Herald of Spring," "Twilight Picture," and a musical setting of the hymn, "Book of Ages," which is included in the present church hymnal.

He was one of the founders of the American Guild of Organists in 1909. He served the Guild as varden. Much of his published music was written during his summers at Waterford.

Only a few days remain to enter the $6,000 Christmas contest of Frigidaire Corporation, Ralph R. Butts, South Paris, local representative of this General Motors subsidiary, reminded local residents yesterday.

The contest will close at midnight, Christmas Eve, and all entries postmarked before that time will be included in the judging, he explained.

The contest is a test of skill in forming a nine word statement about Frigidaire electric refrigerators by using the letters of the word "Christmas". Entry forms are obtainable at the local Frigidaire showroom without cost or obligation on the part of the contestant, it was pointed out.

"First prize," Mr. Butts said, "will be $1,000 in cash. There will be prizes of $500 in cash."

The local Frigidaire representative extends an invitation to the public to come in on the Frigidaire radio programs, now being broadcast every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons over a 50 station hook-up of the N. B. C., or come to the showroom for all details.

HOW IT GROWS
A small sum deposited to your credit with our Christmas Club every week for 50 weeks has a very healthy growth—and will provide you with a good fund for any desired purpose. You can join the club at our bank or by mail.

Apples for England

Railroad Worm is Named as the Cause for Rigid Quarantine Against Fruit from This Region

Oxford County farmers, also those from northern Cumberland County, used to sell large quantities of apples to men who bought for export to England especially, and to other parts of Europe in smaller quantities. An attempt to revive such export trade is reported from Boston. With it goes the statement that the railroad worm is named as the cause for English restrictions against New England apples, which may be taken to require thorough spraying of the apple trees and thorough inspection of the fruit offered for export. The Boston Transcript tells the story in this fashion:

"Action has been taken by Frank S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce to recover New England's export apple traffic, which has declined rapidly in recent years, and is now at the vanishing point. The cause is attributed to the fact that the railroad worm, according to information given to Mr. Davis, by the United States and Massachusetts departments of agriculture, this pest is local to New England and some extent to Canadian Provinces. Under British quarantine regulations, if even one infected apple is found, the clearance certificate is withheld and the entire lot is condemned for export."

Davis has brought the matter to the attention of the New England Council, urging that the council's committee on agriculture endeavor to obtain concerted action throughout New England to eradicate the pest. To this end he has made recommendations for a general New England survey, a meeting of delegates from all New England States to impress growers with the gravity of the situation and the need of organized effort to cope with the problem; raising of the New England States, or a Federal appropriation, and to obtain legislation to empower State or Federal authorities to destroy old, neglected trees and orchards, the direct cause of the pest.

"For many years apples formed one of the principal items of export from Boston, single shipments of ten to twenty thousand barrels being frequently forwarded from here by steamers to Great Britain."
